

LOUISIANA NEWS.

VOL. IX, NO. 13.

LOUISA, LAWRENCE COUNTY, KENTUCKY, NOVEMBER 17, 1893.

M. F. CONLEY, Publisher.

NEWS ITEMS.

Robertson, Gladstone, a nephew of the prime minister, is dead.

Chief Justice Beasley has decided that the Jersey county estate law is unconstitutional.

There are now 307 students enrolled at the West Virginia state university.

Francis H. Weeks, the forger, arrived at Sing Sing prison Friday and was assigned to the "B" gang.

Oscar Smith, a wealthy farmer and stock raiser of Bourbon county, Ky., succeeded Tuesday morning by shooting himself with a shotgun.

The latest estimates of the Massachusetts legislature give 28 Republicans to 12 Democrats in the senate and a republican majority of 135 in the house.

The Lake Shore passenger and freight depot and post office at New Era, just south of Waterloo, Ind., burned to the ground Friday. Loss heavy.

The complete returns from Blackhawk county, Ia., for the home county, given Jackson 1,144, Boone 2,323, a net republican gain of 500 over the vote of 1891.

The baptism of the infant prince of Romania by the Romanian clergy, according to the rites of the Greek church, caused angry comments by the Catholics here.

The total vote in South Dakota will fall below 25,000, less than half the vote of last year. The republican candidates for supreme judges are elected by from 2,000 to 4,000 plurality.

Secretary John Smith has appointed George R. Crosby, of Sacramento, Cal., a special agent to examine and report on the condition of the Digger Indians with a view to improving their condition.

Dr. Herman August Hagen, professor of entomology, at Harvard college, died at Cambridge, Mass., Thursday morning. Prof. Hagen was born in Königsberg, Eastern Prussia, May 30, 1817.

The Grasshopper, organ of the Russian court, in a special article upon the European situation, recognizes the fact that a general disarmament is impossible, and that a European war is inevitable.

Gov. Bryan has ordered Col. John C. Claiborne, of the Louisville legion, to detail thirty men to accompany Phil Evans, the rapist, to Bardonia and protect him from mob violence during the trial.

The marriage of Queenberry was privately celebrated, according to a dispatch received at London, to Miss Ethel Weeden, at Eastbourne. The bride is described as being both young and rich.

At New York, Frances H. Weeks was Tuesday sentenced to ten years' imprisonment in Sing Sing prison. He pleaded guilty on arraignment, and the entire proceeding did not occupy five minutes.

Francis Murphy closed a ten days' temperance meeting at Greensburg, Ind., with over 2,000 signatures to the pledge. Mayor Anderson and Col. E. Wolfe, of Rushville, addressed the large audience.

At Atlanta, Ga., Charles J. Crane, the young Baltimorean forger who was betrayed into the hands of the Cincinnati police by a man whom he had befriended, was Friday sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

A statue of Patrick Henry, which used to ornament the old Monongahela county courthouse is now an advertisement in a Morgantown (W. Va.) store. The people are kicking on this use of the immortal Patrick's statue and want it restored.

At Oak Ridge, 13 miles south of Vaneburg, Ky., Horace Goodhue, while draining the last sip from a whisky bottle, swallowed some slivers of glass that were in the bottom of the bottle. He died in great agony a few hours later.

There was a double execution at Ewen in the Rhine province Friday. An innkeeper, named Uebelen, and a workman, named Metzger, were put to death according to law for having robbed and murdered Grunbaum, a cattle dealer.

Col. Wm. H. Able, of Kentucky, was Friday appointed an Indian agent with a salary of $2,000 a year. Mr. Able was an applicant for a position of the post of Louisville, but that office was filled by the appointment of a friend of Congressman Caruth.

At Cleveland, O., the convention of Liberal Presbyterians adopted a series of resolutions wherein they declare their intention to remain within the fold of the Presbyterian church, inasmuch as the Westminster creed said nothing about the infirmity of the Scriptures.

Another purchase for the Brazilian fleet is reported at New York. Charles R. Finley, the agent of the government, is at this time concluding negotiations for the steam yacht Nada, which was only twenty-two miles an hour and will be fitted up as a torpedo boat for El Cid.

The president Friday pardoned Clarence H. Harris, formerly cashier of the national bank of Dubuque, Ia., convicted of falsifying reports to the controller, who pleaded guilty and sentence suspended. The petition was based on the alleged trust placed by Harris in the word of the president of the bank.

Chairman Sayres, of the house committee on appropriations, will send out notices to the subscribers to convene in the committee rooms November 20, at 10 o'clock, for the purpose of beginning the preparation of these bills.

Maj. H. H. Harrison, of Wheeling, W. Va., who arrived at Los Angeles, Cal., recently to work on a stock company for the sale of World's fair photographs, committed suicide by shooting himself with a revolver. Dependence was the cause. Maj. Harrison was at the head of the commissary department on Gen. Sheridan's staff when Sheridan marched into the Shenandoah valley in 1864.

A deaf mute was struck Friday by a Grand Rapids & Indiana passenger train while walking on the track at Portland, Ind., and was thrown twenty-five feet but not fatally injured. Nothing could be found out regarding the cause and to all inquiries he simply said he was walking in the direction of a fever in coming to Portland, and there are fears that the return of the deaf mute will be a relief to his family.

RED-HOT TALK.

Hon. J. L. Stevens' Reply to Secretary of State Gresham.

The Ex-Minister Tells the Story of the Hawaiian Queen's Overthrow.

He Charges the Secretary of State With Cruelty Not Only to the Living, But to the Dead—Queen Liliuokalani Inaugurated the Revolution.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 15.—Hon. J. L. Stevens, late minister to Hawaii, will make the following reply to Gresham's announcement.

According to the announcement, a public crime of startling importance is about to be committed, under the authority of the American government.

A public crime of less proportions, but in its moral type similar to the stilling of the reform aspirations of Poland and Hungary, a few years ago, by the imperial despots, and to the crushing out of the new-born republic of Rome by the usurped powers of Louis Napoleon. All that American piety, American benevolence, American schools and American patriots have accomplished in Hawaii in the past twenty years are now centralized in the provision of government, and stand in its support. It is a government of the people, for the people, and by the people, and it is the best government that Hawaii ever had. I know not the influences which induced Secretary Gresham to become an active agent in attempting such an offense against civilization, justice and law.

His hostility to ex-President Harrison and to the illustrious ex-secretary of state, who passed his grave in January last, is well known. It was that which caused him to betray and desert the great political party whose honors he had shared and brought to his present attitude and their works so far as his recent manifesto on Hawaiian affairs casts reflection upon my official action I care little, except to the degree that the noble hand of man and woman who have for ten months stood so devotedly and unitedly in defense of American civilization. The remarks made by me before the chamber of commerce in San Francisco on June 1 and before the citizens of Augusta, published in the Kennebec Journal, are answers to most of the unjust imputations of ray official action.

Perhaps nothing better shows the character of the secretary's assault than what he says about the hall which the men occupied a few days and until better quarters could be secured.

After I had made my request to Capt. Wiltz to land his men as a precautionary safeguard to American life and property, he and his officers informed me that their men must have shelter for the night. Without special information in that regard I had supposed that the ships' marines had tents of their own or that they would use the emergency on shore. I wrote a note and sent it by a messenger to secure a large hall which was supposed to be available. The man in charge of the hall was several miles away and I had not known of the existence of the Arion hall until that evening, when a messenger with my note was sent to the supposed agent of the Arion hall, who was a royalist. He returned me a courteous answer, saying he would be pleased to let the hall for the specified purpose, but he had ceased to be the agent, informing me who then had charge of the hall. This required a third note and a third effort of a messenger, which proved successful. So much time had thus been consumed that the Boston's marines and sailors were obliged to stand weary hours in the street before they were able to get to their quarters. All of them would have been held at the legation and consulate but for want of room, whereas as many as possible were received, these facilities from the palace and government building.

For the occupation of Arion hall by the men of the Boston the committee of public safety and the supporters of the provisional government had no more authority than Secretary Gresham himself.

Queen Liliuokalani inaugurated the revolution by attempting to destroy the legislature by revolutionary means. From Saturday afternoon, January 16, to January 17, there was no government in Honolulu except in the self-proclaimed attitude of citizens who assembled in a great mass-meeting January 10 and consummated their efforts for law and order by the establishment of the provisional government, acknowledged by all the foreign representatives.

Liliuokalani and her favorites had destroyed her throne by a revolutionary outbreak when the men of the Boston landed, and the evening hours preceding and following her fall, her representatives, as well as those who formed the provisional government, had equal access to the legation. To all proper inquiries my answer was that the United States marines were not to be used for the purpose of enforcing government might exist would have to be recognized.

When I did recognize it, late in the afternoon of the 17th, the provisional government was complete master of the situation.

It was on the 17th, which was promptly acknowledged by all the foreign representatives.

Liliuokalani and her favorites had destroyed her throne by a revolutionary outbreak when the men of the Boston landed, and the evening hours preceding and following her fall, her representatives, as well as those who formed the provisional government, had equal access to the legation. To all proper inquiries my answer was that the United States marines were not to be used for the purpose of enforcing government might exist would have to be recognized.

When I did recognize it, late in the afternoon of the 17th, the provisional government was complete master of the situation.

It was on the 17th, which was promptly acknowledged by all the foreign representatives.

Liliuokalani and her favorites had destroyed her throne by a revolutionary outbreak when the men of the Boston landed, and the evening hours preceding and following her fall, her representatives, as well as those who formed the provisional government, had equal access to the legation. To all proper inquiries my answer was that the United States marines were not to be used for the purpose of enforcing government might exist would have to be recognized.

When I did recognize it, late in the afternoon of the 17th, the provisional government was complete master of the situation.

It was on the 17th, which was promptly acknowledged by all the foreign representatives.

Liliuokalani and her favorites had destroyed her throne by a revolutionary outbreak when the men of the Boston landed, and the evening hours preceding and following her fall, her representatives, as well as those who formed the provisional government, had equal access to the legation. To all proper inquiries my answer was that the United States marines were not to be used for the purpose of enforcing government might exist would have to be recognized.

When I did recognize it, late in the afternoon of the 17th, the provisional government was complete master of the situation.

It was on the 17th, which was promptly acknowledged by all the foreign representatives.

Liliuokalani and her favorites had destroyed her throne by a revolutionary outbreak when the men of the Boston landed, and the evening hours preceding and following her fall, her representatives, as well as those who formed the provisional government, had equal access to the legation. To all proper inquiries my answer was that the United States marines were not to be used for the purpose of enforcing government might exist would have to be recognized.

When I did recognize it, late in the afternoon of the 17th, the provisional government was complete master of the situation.

It was on the 17th, which was promptly acknowledged by all the foreign representatives.

Liliuokalani and her favorites had destroyed her throne by a revolutionary outbreak when the men of the Boston landed, and the evening hours preceding and following her fall, her representatives, as well as those who formed the provisional government, had equal access to the legation. To all proper inquiries my answer was that the United States marines were not to be used for the purpose of enforcing government might exist would have to be recognized.

When I did recognize it, late in the afternoon of the 17th, the provisional government was complete master of the situation.

It was on the 17th, which was promptly acknowledged by all the foreign representatives.

Liliuokalani and her favorites had destroyed her throne by a revolutionary outbreak when the men of the Boston landed, and the evening hours preceding and following her fall, her representatives, as well as those who formed the provisional government, had equal access to the legation. To all proper inquiries my answer was that the United States marines were not to be used for the purpose of enforcing government might exist would have to be recognized.

When I did recognize it, late in the afternoon of the 17th, the provisional government was complete master of the situation.

It was on the 17th, which was promptly acknowledged by all the foreign representatives.

Liliuokalani and her favorites had destroyed her throne by a revolutionary outbreak when the men of the Boston landed, and the evening hours preceding and following her fall, her representatives, as well as those who formed the provisional government, had equal access to the legation. To all proper inquiries my answer was that the United States marines were not to be used for the purpose of enforcing government might exist would have to be recognized.

When I did recognize it, late in the afternoon of the 17th, the provisional government was complete master of the situation.

It was on the 17th, which was promptly acknowledged by all the foreign representatives.

Liliuokalani and her favorites had destroyed her throne by a revolutionary outbreak when the men of the Boston landed, and the evening hours preceding and following her fall, her representatives, as well as those who formed the provisional government, had equal access to the legation. To all proper inquiries my answer was that the United States marines were not to be used for the purpose of enforcing government might exist would have to be recognized.

When I did recognize it, late in the afternoon of the 17th, the provisional government was complete master of the situation.

It was on the 17th, which was promptly acknowledged by all the foreign representatives.

Liliuokalani and her favorites had destroyed her throne by a revolutionary outbreak when the men of the Boston landed, and the evening hours preceding and following her fall, her representatives, as well as those who formed the provisional government, had equal access to the legation. To all proper inquiries my answer was that the United States marines were not to be used for the purpose of enforcing government might exist would have to be recognized.

When I did recognize it, late in the afternoon of the 17th, the provisional government was complete master of the situation.

It was on the 17th, which was promptly acknowledged by all the foreign representatives.

Liliuokalani and her favorites had destroyed her throne by a revolutionary outbreak when the men of the Boston landed, and the evening hours preceding and following her fall, her representatives, as well as those who formed the provisional government, had equal access to the legation. To all proper inquiries my answer was that the United States marines were not to be used for the purpose of enforcing government might exist would have to be recognized.

When I did recognize it, late in the afternoon of the 17th, the provisional government was complete master of the situation.

It was on the 17th, which was promptly acknowledged by all the foreign representatives.

Liliuokalani and her favorites had destroyed her throne by a revolutionary outbreak when the men of the Boston landed, and the evening hours preceding and following her fall, her representatives, as well as those who formed the provisional government, had equal access to the legation. To all proper inquiries my answer was that the United States marines were not to be used for the purpose of enforcing government might exist would have to be recognized.

When I did recognize it, late in the afternoon of the 17th, the provisional government was complete master of the situation.

It was on the 17th, which was promptly acknowledged by all the foreign representatives.

Liliuokalani and her favorites had destroyed her throne by a revolutionary outbreak when the men of the Boston landed, and the evening hours preceding and following her fall, her representatives, as well as those who formed the provisional government, had equal access to the legation. To all proper inquiries my answer was that the United States marines were not to be used for the purpose of enforcing government might exist would have to be recognized.

When I did recognize it, late in the afternoon of the 17th, the provisional government was complete master of the situation.

It was on the 17th, which was promptly acknowledged by all the foreign representatives.

Liliuokalani and her favorites had destroyed her throne by a revolutionary outbreak when the men of the Boston landed, and the evening hours preceding and following her fall, her representatives, as well as those who formed the provisional government, had equal access to the legation. To all proper inquiries my answer was that the United States marines were not to be used for the purpose of enforcing government might exist would have to be recognized.

When I did recognize it, late in the afternoon of the 17th, the provisional government was complete master of the situation.

It was on the 17th, which was promptly acknowledged by all the foreign representatives.

Liliuokalani and her favorites had destroyed her throne by a revolutionary outbreak when the men of the Boston landed, and the evening hours preceding and following her fall, her representatives, as well as those who formed the provisional government, had equal access to the legation. To all proper inquiries my answer was that the United States marines were not to be used for the purpose of enforcing government might exist would have to be recognized.

ALL MIXED UP.

The Election Has Its Effect on the Ways and Means Committee.

A Story Meeting of Four of the Members of the Ways and Means Committee, Held at the Hotel Hamilton, New York, on the First Day of January Next.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The big four of the democratic majority on the ways and means committee held a long and exciting session Friday night at the hotel Hamilton, New York, in the quarters of the committee, Chairman Wilson of Virginia, Clifford B. Breckinridge, of Arkansas, Wm. D. Byrum, of Indiana, and Moses T. Stevens, of Massachusetts, were the four to put their heads together and try to straighten out the difficulties that have arisen in the pathway of the committee in the preparation of their new tariff bill.

The four members remained at the Arlington until a late hour Saturday morning, and so great were the problems they tried to solve that they were finally obliged to give them up and adjourn until another date.

The trouble is that the elections have had their effect upon the democratic members of the ways and means committee, and that Congress will be in session many days again before the ways and means committee will be ready to report. In fact, it is said that January 1 will come and go before the democratic tariff bill is in shape to be presented to the country.

Wilson before the elections thought his committee in full accord with him and the bill drawn up and presented by the administration.

Indeed, so great was the discontent of the democratic members of the ways and means committee as to the fate of the bill in the house. A few members of congress who have returned to Washington are talking in an entirely different way from the time they left what they did before the elections. The revolt of some of the strongest tariff revisioners is making the committee exceedingly uneasy, and what is further strengthening the kickers is the appearance here just now of large delegations representing states affected by the proposed bill. They are here protesting and fighting against any reduction whatever. Each day brings new delegations and new complications. Senator Frye, of Maine, who is one of the most ardent and outspoken in congress does not believe that the repeal of the silver-purchasing law will lastingly benefit the financial conditions of the country. He says the silver law was a necessary evil, and that the repeal of it would be a disaster to the country. He says the silver law was a necessary evil, and that the repeal of it would be a disaster to the country.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated he had announced his determination to maintain the parity between all moneys and fulfill our redemption pledges, even if it became necessary to sell bonds, authority for which he possesses, there would have been no panic. The Maine statesman believes that Secretary Carlisle's vacillating policies will prove him to be an official disappointment to the country. The senator says there will undoubtedly be some financial legislation at the approaching session of congress, and he says that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion, and that the tariff revisioners are now in a state of confusion.

The senator declares that if about the time President Cleveland was inaugurated